Wreck Damages Train, Building

DERAILED CARS RAKE COACHES, SMASH WALL

& O. Freight Leaves Track
at Union Station, Endangering "Sportsman."

Three cars of the C. and O. railroad's crack passenger train, the Sportsman, were sideswiped while standing at the Union station Sunday at 4:01 a. m. when five box cars from a passing freight were derailed.

The only injury reported was a bump on the head of a woman
passenger caused by a falling suitcase, railroad officials said. The woman, whose name was not obtained here, told the conductor
she was not hurt.

Two of the derailed freight cars ended about 20 feet through the brick wall of a Marion Power
Co. pattern storage building.

The accident occurred when a freight car of the southbound
train jumped the track and crossed the C. and O. crossing of the freight and Big Four and took four cars behind it along. The derailed cars struck a diner and two coaches of the Sportsman, standing on the northbound track.

Windows were cracked in the passenger cars, but they were not damaged severely. The Sportsman was remanded and moved out of Pennsylvania tracks after a day of two hours. The dining car and one Pullman were left over.

ARMISTICE DAY

Parade To Be Top Event Of Armistice Day

Marchers Move from Church Street and Blaine Ave.
at 7:30 P. M.

Marion veterans organizations
and other civic and patriotic groups will participate tonight in the Armistice day parade.

At least nine floats, three bands and several organizations and individuals will be in the line of march.

Parade leaders were making
final plans today despite threatening weather at noon. Only a downpour will cancel the ceremonies, they said.

The line of march will be from a starting point on West Church street and Blaine avenue, over Church street to Greenwood street, north on Greenwood to East Center and west on Center street to Garden street. The parade will move at 7:30 p. m.

A reviewing stand will be set up at the south side of the courthouse.

TRUMAN URGES ARMISTICE IN LABOR STRIFE

Advocates Management-Union
Truce as Controls
Vanish.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Truman today advocated an armistice between labor and management in his first public statement since he junked wage and price controls.

War-time curbs on the two groups were lifted after five years
when Mr. Truman swept ceilings off all items except rents, sugar and rice. And rent increases appeared "inevitable" to some government officials.

The subject of a labor-management truce came at the President's Armistice Day news conference
when a reporter asked whether he had noted such proposals.

Mr. Truman replied that he had not heard of the suggestions, but said it was just what he had been urging since August, 1945, when the war ended.

The Chief Executive killed off
the price and wage controls in a weekend order, declaring:

"I am convinced that their further continuance would do the nation's economy more harm than good."

At the same time the Chief Executive placed "squarely upon management and labor" the "responsibility" for economic stablity.

His decontrol edict brought immediate promises from industry
and business leaders that prices
would be held at reasonable levels
—after a period of adjustment.

But some of these leaders tempered their pledges with a big
"if"—if wages demands don't upset the applicat.

Labor Unions Silent

From labor unions, many of which already are seeking higher
pay to offset living cost increases,
there was nothing but silence on the President's action.

On the coal, steel, auto and several other fronts there is evidence of potential trouble if management and labor demands as they did a few months back.

Mr. Truman's order wiped price ceilings off buildings materials as well as scores of other items,
including clothing, automobiles,
furniture, paper, steel and other metals.

Officials of the national housing agency, which fought elimination of building material controls, expressed doubt that the $10,000
sales lid on new homes could be held for long, although NHA
Chief Wilson W. Wyatt has voiced determination to do so.

Privately, aides of Wyatt said
it may be necessary to boost the ceiling to $12,000. And the $80
rental lid may have to be raised.

"Big Drive" Planned

One NHA official told a reporter, however, that "the only salvation" of the veterans housing program may be in a "big drive" the agency plans to encourage construction of new homes for rent. This is prompted by a belief that sales prices may become prohibitive.

The Associated General Contractors of America called for removal of controls on prices on

G. O. P. Ready To "Play Ball" With Truman

Leaders Praise Statement and Promise Cooperation for U. S. Good.

By The Associated Press
Republican congressional leaders promised today to "play ball"
with President Truman in his announced policy of cooperating in every proper manner with members of the congress.

Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, a candidate for the house Republican leadership, told reporters "we Republicans recognize our responsibility and we are going to meet it."

"The President probably refers to the three branches of the government and of his desire to cooperate as head of the executive branch," Halleck said. "Certainly those of us in the legislative branch will join him in that cooperation."

Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois,
House Republican whip, said Republicans in congress "will carry out their responsibilities under the new powers which came to them through the elections."

"The country, of course, is first and uppermost in the minds of our party," Arends added. "I think we should and must continue the non-partisan approach to our for-

REQUESTS BOTH PARTIES WEIGH U. S. WELFARE

Pledges Cooperation; Deplores
"Tampering with Public Interest."

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—
President Truman called upon both Democrats and Republicans
today to exercise "wisdom and restraint" in operation of the government under divided party control.

He told the nation that the parties must examine their respective positions "with stern and critical analysis" to exclude any attempt "to tamper with the public interest in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage."

Mr. Truman said in a statement read to his news conference that the Democratic defeat in last Tuesday's election "does not alter
our domestic or foreign interests or problems." He reminded that
"in foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow."

The President declared he knew of no resignations planned by members of his cabinet and said that Charles C. Ross would continue as his press secretary.

Accepts Election Verdict

Mr. Truman said, in part:
"The people have elected a Republican majority to the senate
and to the house of representatives. Under our Constitution the congress is the lawmaking body.
The people have chosen to entrust
the controlling voice in this branch of our government to the Republican party. I accept their verdict in the spirit in which all good citizens accept the result of any fair election."

"At the same time and under the same Constitution, the duties
and responsibilities of the Chief Executive and of the executive branch of the government are entrusted to me and my associates.
Our government is founded upon the constitutional principle that the three branches of the government are independent of each other. Under this principle
our country has prospered and grown great. I should be less than candid, however, if I omitted to state that the present situation threatens difficulties."

Will Discharge Duties

"I shall devote all my energy
to the discharge of my duty with a full realization of the responsibility which results from the present state of affairs. I do not claim for myself and my associates greater devotion to the welfare of our nation than I ascribe
to others of another party."

"Obviously, issues will arise
between the President and the congress. When this occurs, we must examine our respective positions with stern and critical analysis to exclude any attempt to tamper with the public interest
in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage."

"The change in the majority in the congress does not alter our domestic or foreign interests or problems. In foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow. Our foreign policy has been developed and executed on a bipartisan basis. I have done my best to strengthen and extend this practice."

"Set upon Hard Course"

"We are set upon a hard course. An effort by either the executive or the legislative branch of the government to embarrass the other for partisan reasons would bring frustration to our country. To follow the course with honor to ourselves and with benefit to our country, we must look beyond and above ourselves
and our party interests for the true bearing."

"I shall cooperate in every proper manner with members of the congress, and my hope and prayer is that this spirit of cooperation will be reciprocated."

"To them, one and all, I pledge faith with faith, and promise to meet good will with good will."

REDS WIN IN FRENCH VOTE

Poll Most Ballots but Completely Left-Wing Cabinet Unlikely.

By The Associated Press
PARIS, Nov. 11.—The Communists emerged today as the strongest party in France's new Fourth republic, but the outcome of yesterday's national election seemed unlikely to bring a strictly left-wing government.

On the basis of incomplete returns from balloting for a national assembly, some new coalition appeared probable in place of the combine of Popular Republicans (MRP), Communists and Socialists which controls the current provisional government.

Prior to the election the Communist party and the MRP each promised if elected to shut out
the other from any new cabinet,
but the election results seemed to have made this impossible.

Ousted Bidault Party

The Communists ousted President George Bidault's MRP from the legislative lead, winning back
the place they took in the first constituent assembly elected Oct.
21, 1945, and lost in the second elected last June 2.

But there seemed little chance
they could form a leftist majority in the legislature or in a cabinet.
Anti-Markist parties gained, too,
while the Socialists lost heavily.
As a result the MRP remained

LEWIS MEETS KRUG IN COAL CONFERENCE

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—John
L. Lewis opened negotiations with Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug
today on a pay increase for 400-000 soft coal miners threatening a new walkout Nov. 20.

The United Mine Workers' chief strode unsmiling into the big interior department conference room, heading a group of 28 other mine workers officials. They included district president of soft coal producing areas.

Coal Mines Administrator N. H.
Cullison and other interior department officials accompanied Krug, who has challenged Lewis's right to open the government
wage contract which the two made last spring.

Lewis declined to give any hint
to reporters whether he would make public his demands, which he has held off during more than a week of preliminary negotiations between a union committee and Cullison.

The UMW leader is the first labor leader to come to bat in a new free swinging era of collective bargaining. The release of coal and all other items except rents, sugar, and rice from wartime controls was ordered by President Truman only 38 hours before Lewis met with Krug to unfold his wage demands.

Krug has been touring the southwest and during his absence
Lewis took no part in the sessions.

2 Killed in Airliner Crash at Cleveland

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—A United Airlines plane crashed into trees and high tension wires just north of Cleveland airport early today, killing the pilots and injuring 17 passengers and the stewardess.

The plane, flight 404 bound from Chicago to Boston,
crashed during a rainstorm.
The plane cleared Chicago at 1:35 and was due at Cleveland airport at 3:27 a. m.

The victims:
Pilot F. L. Brown, 44, Chicago.
Co-pilot Robert L. Arnold, 25, Hammond, Ind.

Plane Demolished

The plane was demolished as it
spun into the ground, the engines
being torn from the wings and
the fuselage breaking in half.

Fred Pasko, a truck driver believed to be one of the few witnesses, said he noticed the plane
about 2,000 feet north of the airport, flying low. He said the plane's landing lights were on
and the landing gear was down.

"There was a flash as the plane
hit some wires and the street lights went out," Pasko said.

"Then the plane crashed into some trees, spun around and hit
the ground," Maj. John Berry, airport commissioner, said airport control tower operators told him the plane had circled the port, had made contact and had reported no mechanical difficulties.

Had No Contact

Miss Betty Dobson, 25, of Madison, Wis., and Chicago, the plane's stewardess, said she had no contact with the pilot and co-pilot
except at one point between Chicago and Cleveland when they asked for sandwiches and coffee.

She also said:
"At no time before the crash
did the red light flash above the pilot's door indicating there was going to be an emergency landing. I was standing facing the bulkhead at the time of the crash,
and the first thing I knew there was an awful jolt and my head
hit the floor."

Afraid of Fire

"I was stunned. I was afraid of fire and my main concern was
to get the passengers out."

Four civil aeronautics administration inspectors flew in at mid-morning and were to open an immediate investigation.

The passengers and stewardess
were rushed to three Cleveland
hospitals but six were released
almost immediately after treatment for small cuts and bruises.
Extent of injuries to the others
was not available immediately.

TRUMAN LEADS U. S. ARMISTICE DAY RITES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Truman today laid a wreath
in homage to the nation's heroic dead and declared this country was striving for a peace that will prevent fighting a third time for the same ideals.

At nearby Arlington cemetery
Mr. Truman led the nation's Armistice Day observance by placing a wreath of chrysanthemums on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier as notables of the United States looked on.

Then, in the adjoining amphitheater, he told a gathering:
"What we are trying to do now
is to create a peace which will prevent the necessity of our grandchildren fighting a Third World War for the same principles for which we stand now,
and have always stood."

The President said the United States had nothing to gain by the recent war except peace and nothing to gain from its international negotiations except peace.

The President handed back symbolically to the various states
the colors which their national guard units carried in the last war. The actual return of the flags
was accomplished in the capitol
of the states today.

The President was greeted by a 21-gun salute as he drove into the cemetery. Secretary of War
Patton, Secretary of the Navy
Forrestal and other notables walked with him to the tomb. As

Industrial Consultant Speaks At C of C Dinner Tonight

Speaker at the annual Marion Chamber of Commerce meeting
tonight in Hotel Harding will be Dr. Alfred P. Haake of Chicago, industrial consultant, economist
and lecturer and trustee of the National Small Businessmen's association.

Dr. Haake is a former teacher of economics at the University of Wisconsin and former head of the economics department at Rutgers college. From 1923 to 1925 he was head of the bureau of industrial economics and advisor to large advertisers in Detroit and neighboring cities.

In 1928 he helped organize and became managing director of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, a position which he held until 1942. He also was publisher of the magazine, "Furniture Management." He helped organize and carry on an experiment in northeastern Ohio outlet for which grew the radio program,
"Wake Up America," on which he has appeared frequently.

Dr. Haake was author of a model code for the NRA and was consultant to the resettlement administration under Dr. Rex Tugwell. Later he became one of the first outspoken opponents of the NRA. He has been mayor of

DR. ALFRED P. HAAKE
Park Ridge, Ill., since April 1945
and has spoken in 45 states.
Approximately 190 persons are expected to attend the meeting,
which will begin at 6:30 p. m.
Master of ceremonies will be Harold J. Grigby, general manager of the Marion division of the Ohio Public Service Co. and a vice president of the company.
Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, will deliver the invocation.

Navy Vet Rescues Man Drowning at Columbus

JENKINS IN BID FOR G.O.P. FLOOR LEADER

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio headed at full tilt today into the race for floor leader of house Republicans in the new congress.

"It has been my ambition for a long time," he said, in an interview.

Jenkins, dean of the Ohio house delegation, added that he would campaign intensively, soliciting by telegrams or letters the support of all G.O.P. house members on the basis of his congressional experience and length of service.

Preparing to announce his candidacy formally later in the week, he made it clear that he is in the contest against all comers.

Among these is another Ohioan, Rep. Clarence Brown. He has been mentioned prominently for the post, which will become vacant with the expected elevation of Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts to speaker.

In fact, some forecasters have said either Brown or Rep. Charles McNichols of Indiana, both leaders in the triumphant congressional campaigning, will get the job.

Meanwhile, Senator Robert A. Taft continues to be an outstanding prospect for the majority leadership of that body. Whether he wins or not, the Ohio senator will be influential in party strategy matters.

The seniority tradition might help Jenkins. Few members can match his 22 years in the house, where he is a member of the ways and means committee and chairman of the Republican food study committee.

Steubenville Ministers Push for Action from Council, Lausche.

By The Associated Press
STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 11.—Steubenville's band of militant ministers, intent upon curbing gambling and prostitution in this Ohio city, today pushed their drive through two channels—their governor's office and the city council.

jury and prosecutor to investigate Steubenville crime.
Rev. R. K. Russell, one of a dozen Protestant pastors who at first asked that they be granted special police powers to quash crime, said the petitions were signed by 760 persons—1.9 percent of the city's 40,000 population.
He made it clear, however, that only those persons willing to follow the anti-vice campaign to its conclusion were asked to sign the petitions.
This week a delegation of the ministers and some of their followers expect to meet and present the petitions to Gov. Lausche who, some months ago, called Mayor George W. Floto of Steubenville and Sheriff Robert D. Bates of Jefferson county to Columbus and ordered them to stamp out gambling and vice in the city and county.
In asking the appointment of a special grand jury and prosecutor, the pastors listed in the petitions these reasons:
"1. To investigate vice conditions in Steubenville, including all forms of gambling, slot machines policy and prostitution and so on, and to bring indictments in each case where violations of the law are found.

"2. To bring indictments and restraining proceedings against owners of all properties in which gambling, prostitution and vice and so on is found.
"3. To inquire into conduct of all officials charged with maintenance of the law with the view to removal proceedings if they are found to be lax in enforcement of the law and criminal proceedings if it is found that they have accepted bribes from the underworld."

Albert L. Haughn, 89, a resident of Ashley for 50 years, died at 4 a. m. Sunday in City hospital here following a heart attack. He had made his home with his son, Charles Haughn of near Big Island for the last two years.
Born in Franklin county in December, 1856, he was a son of Samuel Haughn and Ellen Duff Haughn. His wife, Mrs. Daisy Buck Haughn, died two years ago. He was a retired drayman.
Surviving with the son of near Big Island are one grandchild, three brothers, Homer Haughn of Marion, John Haughn of Delaware, and Ellsworth Haughn of Columbus, and two sisters, Mrs. Cora Doan of Marion and Mrs. Della Coomer of near Ashley.
Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the C. E. Lee funeral home at Ashley by Rev. H. L. Borden, pastor of Ashley Methodist church. Burial will be in the Ashley Union cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after noon today.

TWO MORE CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Naher and Conroy List Campaign Costs With Board.

Two more county candidates, both Democrats, have filed expense accounts with the board of elections. They are Paul H. Naher, candidate for county commissioner, and George Conroy, candidate for county auditor.
Naher, who was defeated in Tuesday's election by Luther J. Mitchell, reported his campaign expenses at $168.33. Conroy, defeated by Harry V. Mounts, listed his expenses at $102.
Thomas Fetter, as campaign chairman for the "Conroy for Auditor Club" filed an expense account of $405.88. Deadline for submitted statements of campaign expenses to the election board is Nov. 15.
Deputy clerks at the election board office said today they were finding a number of minor errors in precinct tabulations and in some cases precinct boards and presiding judges had to be called in and he ballots reopened. The official count will not be completed before next week, election officials said.
BACK IN DETENTION HOME.
Charged with breaking into the vacant farm residence of Oliver Hamilton on county road 167 north of the city Wednesday three Marion youths, two 17-year-olds and a 16-year-old, were returned to the Marion county detention home Saturday after appearing before Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast and their hearings were continued until next Tuesday. The youths admitted breaking into the dwelling, although nothing was reported taken. Charges against the youths were filed by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer.

GOOD STOCK RUN EXPECTED AT SALE

Farmers Start Coming Early for Auction.

Receipts at the Marion Union Stockyards today were expected to run high with the weather rainy and farmers unable to work in their fields.
Farmers began bringing their livestock to the market early this morning, stockyard officials said. Sheep and lamb receipts are expected to run over 1,000 with the price on choice animals estimated at between $23 and $24.
Choice calves were expected to bring from $27 to $28, with total receipts estimated at between 200 and 250. Only a few choice steers were expected on the market with top prices of from $23 to $25. The cattle market was expected to total $200, with medium grades and rough making up a large portion of the receipts.
Choice hogs were expected to bring between $23 and $25 with approximately $700 head to be sold.

Bethlehem Grange Has Halloween Party

A meeting of Bethlehem Grange was in the form of a Halloween party, with Miss Louise Augenstein in charge of the program. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes with the award for the best dressed couple going to Misses Jean and Jane Eagle, the best dressed individual, Miss Louise Bender, and the funniest dress, Mrs. Ralph Williams. Along with games and contests in keeping with Halloween, the following program was also presented: reading, "Origin of Halloween," by Miss Mary Faye McMillan; reading, "The Ghost of a Flower," by Miss Betty Fogle; a reading, "The Dance of the Witches," by Miss Peggy Grates; and a ghost story told by Mrs. Franklin Gerfen, assisted by Lowell Berringer.
An announcement was made of a banquet for Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Degree members to be held Nov. 29 at the First Evangelical and Reformed church in Marion. Election of officers will be held at the next meeting, Nov. 13, with a potluck supper at 7 p. m. preceding the meeting. A program committee was appointed for the meeting, Nov. 27. It is composed of Miss Hazel Clunk, Miss Margaret Howald, Allan Wargowsky and Sam McHaffey.

Peace Is
A Blessed Thing Indeed

Armistice Day celebrates the end of a horrible war. It was not, as we had hoped, the war that would end wars, but it seems to us that any day which marks the end of strife between men is a day worth celebrating, worth remembering... a blessed day indeed.

MEMBERS of Beta chapter, Gradale sorority, honored their mothers and new pledges at a tea Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in the women's club rooms at the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. Edene Long and Miss Barbara Hedges presided at a table decorated with tall pink tapers, fall flowers, and small turkeys which were used as favors.

Two piano selections were presented by Mrs. Virgil Carl. They were "Narcissus" by Nevin, and "Cladulum" by Debussy. The new pledges are Miss Marilyn Garey, Mrs. Jo Fetter, Miss Jo Fazio, Miss Maxine Walston, Miss Jeannet Daum, Miss Anna Lee Endicott, Mrs. Florence Murphy, Mrs. Mary Nash, Miss Jo Ann Marble, and Miss Joan Dixon.

Guests present were Mrs. Helen Tharp, Mrs. Howard Walker, Mrs. Genevieve Killbury, Mrs. Glenn Kellogg, Mrs. Clifford Dennis, Mrs. LeRoy Jones, Mrs. Wayne Harper, Mrs. A. H. Koons, Mrs. Thomas Fetter, Mrs. A. C. Fetter, Mrs. Mary Daum, Mrs. Lee Endicott, Mrs. Goebel Walston, Mrs. Karl Marble, Mrs. R. W. Hedges, Mrs. Martha Roberts, Mrs. H. R. Garey, Mrs. Joseph Fazio, and Mrs. E. H. Moore.

Arrangements were in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Edene Long, Mrs. Betty Miller, Miss Mary Holloway, Mrs. DeLores Shenfield, Mrs. DeLores O'Brien and Mrs. Mary Rice.

RED ROSES, the sorority flower, were combined with fall flowers to arrange the centerpiece for the annual birthday dinner held by the chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma society, Friday evening at Ringer's Inn. For the program, Mrs. C. H. Indoe, vocalist, presented a group of Negro spirituals, including "I Know I Have Another Building," "Somebody Knockin' At Yo' Door," and "Were You There?" Her accompaniments were played by Miss Catherine Thew and she preceded her group with a brief resume on the types of spirituals as discussed by Clarence Cameron White, author of "Negro Music." Completing the program was a talk by E. L. Hill who returned home recently after four years of service in the armed forces. His talk, "See a Child of de Lord," was on his experiences while in command of Negro troops at Camp Kearns, Utah. Guests included Miss Alice Adams of Cleveland, one of the founders of Alpha Delta Sigma, Delta Kappa Gamma, Mrs. Indoe and Mr. and Mrs. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Norton of Little Sandusky entertained a group of friends at their home Thursday evening with a wieners roast and a buffet supper. Those present were Clara Peggy and Bonnie Norton of Marion and William and Maxine Alexander of Prospect.

Riffie of Fountain street was in honor of Frank Bumgarner who was celebrating his 81st birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in playing euchre. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jolliff and children, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ganson, Mrs. Alice Everly, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Bumgarner, Mrs. Joseph Bumgarner and children, Mrs. Stanley Bumgarner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bumgarner, Glenn Bumgarner, Miss Roberta Bumgarner, Miss Joanne Riffe, and Mrs. John Eakins.

Mrs. D. W. Hinamon entertained members of the Carpe Diem Club at a 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday at her home on the Bucyrus road. A bouquet of mums centered the table and favors were small perfume lamps. Mrs. Hinamon was assisted by Mrs. Donald Tower and Mrs. Clinton Hinamon.

During the meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. O. C. Young, election of officers for the new year was conducted. Mrs. Charles Brady was chosen to serve as president, Mrs. A. J. Loudenslager, vice president, Mrs. Paul Lill, treasurer, and Mrs. Rudolph Risch, reporter.

Mrs. Brady led devotions by reading the 48th Psalm, and toll call was answered with a favorite holiday dessert. The club voted to join the County Federated Farm Women's Club. The program, in charge of Mrs. Lill, was composed of the following numbers: a paper on Mark Twain prepared by Mrs. John Barkley and read by Mrs. Maurice Phillips, an article on "Armistice Day," and a reading, "An American Comes to Washington," by Mrs. Gilbert Herr, and a poem, "An Old Fashioned Thanksgiving," by Mrs. E. A. Williams. Contests were conducted by Mrs. Charles Hinamon with awards going to Mrs. Gilbert Herr and Mrs. O. C. Young. Mrs. Clinton Hinamon and daughter, Janet, were guests. The next meeting will be a Christmas party, Dec. 4, with Mrs. Loudenslager as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald Darnelle of Columbus are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jane Anne, to Ralph R. Steward, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Steward of 145 Merchant avenue. The custom of open church will be observed for the double ring ceremony which will be read at 3:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1, in the First Baptist church, Broad street in Columbus.

The bride-elect was graduated from Elizabeth High school, Elizabethtown, Ky., attended Western State college, Bowling Green, Ky., and is associated with the American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus. Mr. Steward is a graduate of Riverside Military academy, Gainesville, Fla., and attended Ohio State and Colgate universities. Book lovers are promised a treat in books in the display and also on the book shelf. In response to the request of the chairman, Mrs. Dale Lawrence, many books are being contributed to the book stall where they will be on sale. Books that have been read and enjoyed, are being contributed by owners whose generosity prompts them to want to share their pleasure, and as a result there is a wide variety of reading. One donor has contributed 25 books, mostly fiction, the chairman reports.

For children, Mrs. George E. Planck, chairman, has selected new books as well as old favorites in new editions for the children's display. She points out that children are enjoying their picture books in ignorance of the world's struggles and that they, the children, are the architects who are to build a new world on the rubble of the old. Books for children, she adds, should be considered an important factor in the post-war reconstruction.

reading small cards which were found in a miniature mail box. Games and contests provided entertainment with awards going to Mrs. Suzanne Goldsmith, Mrs. Eileen Clary, Miss Susie Ullano, Mrs. Evelyn Curtis and Mrs. Betty Robbins. Other guests included, Miss Reba Freeman and Miss Martha Walker.

Miss Wormell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wormell of 206 West Columbia street, is the fiancée of Frederick Wadsworth of Franklin, O. The custom of open church will be observed for the ceremony to be read at 1:30 p. m. in the Trinity Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Solomon of Woodrow avenue are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Eileen, to Warren H. Augenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Augenstein of Oak Grove avenue. The couple have chosen Sunday, Nov. 24, for the wedding which will take place in the St. Mary rectory.

STEEL DEMAND SPLIT Peeress Finds U. S. Exciting But Not Its Men

By The Associated Press
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—One of Britain's fairest peeresses—here on her first visit—finds America exciting but can't say as much for American men.

"The men are long-winded—their stories are too long," said Lady Rothermere, chic, dark-haired wife of Viscount Rothermere, publisher of the London Daily Mail.

"At cocktail parties give me the women. They are more fun. You feel at once that this is a woman's world. The women have great power—more than in Britain. And they are certainly more entertaining than American men. They have the light touch and are quicker in conversation."

Lady Rothermere—"Annie" to her friends—thinks, too, that the men of her own country are more charming than their American cousins, chiefly because they have more energy left for the give-and-take of evening social life.

"Perhaps it's because our men don't work such long hours," she smiled.

She may be slightly prejudiced in favor of Englishmen because her titled husband, one of Britain's press leaders, is tall and handsome enough to be a fugitive from a Hollywood contract.

Likes American Neckties

She willingly concedes one edge in dress to American men: their neckties.

"They are a bit startling to the English eye," she said, "but I'm all in favor of that. I like bright colors."

Among other aspects of American life that have won her approval are "your superb drug stores, women's department stores, nightclubs and Broadway on Saturday night."

"I love to walk along Broadway in the crowds eating that popcorn covered with caramel."

She's gone American enough, too, to ask for bourbon now instead of Scotch at parties.

Has No Career

Slim, witty, serious, the young peeress has no career interest beyond the welfare of her husband's newspapers. She feels she wasted time in not coming to America sooner.

"Here I am 31 years old and seeing this country for the first time. I think I waited too long. I think everybody should see this country as early in life as possible. All the hopes and possibilities of the future do lie in America now. I want to send my son here to university."

She has a daughter, 10, and a son, 13, by a previous marriage. Her first husband, an Irish colonel, was killed during the war.

Some other first opinions on America:

"Superb women's shoes and ready-made clothes, but I still doubt you'll overtake the French in fashions."

Denies Bad Manners

"I was told everybody here had bad manners. That isn't true. The shopgirls have beautiful manners. But they are slower—take twice as long to wrap a parcel."

"Your upper classes have less individuality than ours. Your lower classes have more, perhaps because ours are less educated, although that will be corrected by the new education bill."

"I find it nice to be in a country where freedom of enterprise

Party in Search of a Policy

THE Republican party's election success was greater than anticipated. Like the Democratic party in 1932, the G. O. P. had underestimated its own strength.

The Democratic party reacted to its success 14 years ago by running hog-wild on reform. Though its candidates had been elected on a platform of moderation, they were engulfed by a wave of experimentalism, verging on radicalism, which by 1936 had reached such huge proportions that old-line party members were being "purged" by the newcomers calling themselves liberals. Franklin D. Roosevelt estimated shrewdly what was required to win his own re-election for a second, third and fourth term, but in 1946 there are many Democrats who wonder whether he may have brought about his numerous re-elections at the price of their party. In 1946 the Democratic party is a muddled bed, with the strange bedfellows who lately were lying in it scattered by the big wind of election day that blew most of them out of office.

This is what happened to the Democratic party, starting in 1932. Today the question is what will happen to the Republican party, starting in 1946. The Republicans, like the Democrats 14 years ago, have been swept into office without being in agreement among themselves. This year, next year and in 1948, when the party reasonably may expect to win the presidency, Republicans must decide what they stand for in politics. It is not going to be enough to say they stand for moderation, or conservatism. These are words, like progressivism and liberalism, which have been so badly used they no longer mean anything.

Democrats felt the wrath of voters in this election year because people were fed up with government that fumbled. Since the end of the war the impression had doubled and redoubled that the Truman administration was fumbling not only in ordinary procedures of administration, but in its philosophy and political thinking. It was held to be all the patchwork machinery of the New Deal, plus the patchwork thinking of the New Deal coalition—but without the masterful political touch of the only man able to keep the patchwork from falling apart. That was the thing people voted to get rid of in 1946, just as in 1932 they voted to get rid of a government which said there was a bluebird around the corner but didn't know how to get around the corner.

The Republican party must find a policy that will keep voters coming its way; that is party politics. All kinds of suggestions will be made, ranging from extreme reaction to appeasement of disgruntled leftists. But the best suggestion that could be made is for the Republican party to acknowledge that the people are disillusioned about isms and want to try plain, ordinary government for a change. That's what swung voters toward the Republican party this year. It's what could swing them in 1948—just everyday common sense in the administration of public affairs.

Two Years To Go

THE White House, fortunately, is showing no interest in the preposterous suggestion that Mr. Truman should resign in favor of a Republican secretary of state, thereby completing the transfer of political responsibility which voters started last Tuesday.

The suggestion is typical of the kind of thinking which has flourished during the last decade or more. It reflects the widely-advertised progressive impulse that has been the trademark of the New Deal—the impulse to change for the sake of change.

There is no reason why President Truman cannot accommodate himself to the circumstances of being left high and dry in the White House by the outgoing political tide. All he needs to do is remember what so far he has forgotten: that he is President of all of the United States, not of its minorities.

When he accepted the Democratic nomination for vice president in 1944, he knew what was obvious to millions of his countrymen. He was being named as a compromise candidate to succeed the dying Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had been given his fourth presidential nomination and probably would be elected.

The certainty of Mr. Roosevelt's death before the end of his fourth term materialized in April 1945. Mr. Truman thereupon became Chief Executive of the United States until January 1949, unless he too should die in office. It is not recalled that any Democrat at that time proposed changing the rules of presidential succession in the middle of the game.

Mr. Truman has two years to go as Chief Executive. They are two years in which he could recover some of the prestige he has sacrificed to bad advice and accommodation to minority pressures, if he wants to be president of all the United States. The Republican majorities in Congress have nothing to gain and everything to lose if they fail to cooperate with him in every move he can make to re-establish confidence in the federal government. If he were to resign it would be to say, in effect, that the party he represents acknowledge its inadequacy to participate in government.

News Behind the News

Traffic with Radicals Costs Democrats Heavily.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 — A thorough understanding of the election result is available in a knowing study of the New York City figures. Democratic Boss Ed Flynn, who managed the entire fourth term campaign for Roosevelt, lost 6 out of the 12 election districts in his own Bronx in his own party vote. In these districts the Dewey Republican vote was larger than the Mead Democratic vote. In only two of these districts was the American Labor party (charged with Communism) vote sufficient to let him skim through.

Now Mr. Flynn's trouble is shown to be that he lost Democratic votes. The ALP vote, my city experts tell me, was about what was expected. But by playing with this faction, Flynn alienated so many Democratic votes he barely shaved through at home.

Somewhat the same story was told by New York City as a whole. Dewey got 1,179,000 votes in that Tammany-controlled Democratic stronghold against only 850,000 Democratic votes for Mead. Lehman did not little better against Ives, the city bi-partisan vote being 1,007,000 against 963,000 for Lehman. In both cases the ALP contributed 355,000 votes to Mead and 268,000 votes to Lehman (they expected 390,000) which, added to the regular Democratic vote, enabled them barely to win the city. But by such tactics, here again, the Democratic leadership chased away so many Democratic voters that they actually politically weakened themselves—and actually defeated themselves in their races.

Just a Minute

She's Trying To Do Him a Dirty Trick

An Illinois woman, filing for divorce, has petitioned the court to allow her to retain the family home of 83 years of age.

Plaintiffs used to seek alimony; now they want an endowment.

Who said it's the woman who pays . . . Not only has she left his bed and board, but also she wants his school-girl complexion.

Old-timers can remember when property disposal was concerned with real estate and household furnishings, not with Lux and Super Suds.

Divided custody being out of the question in such cases, an equitable distribution of family assets seemed in order . . . something like him taking the children, her the chips.

The husband, quite naturally, is contesting the suit. When he said, "With all my worldly goods, I thee endow," he didn't mean his Lifebuoy.

Now the Democratic strategy was unmistakably plain. They figured they would play with the Communists, leftists, radicals or whatever that faction may want to call itself and that the faction would contribute enough votes to win. The strategy of the faction is equally obvious. The small Communists, etc. minority wanted to establish itself in control by wielding a political balance of power over the Democrats. Although numerically weak, they succeeded in engineering Democratic campaign strategy to the leftist viewpoint, believing that the Democrats had to go to Communism to win.

This is the political lesson of the election. The nation's adversive element (if not subversive) could not contribute enough to the Democrats to win an election even in their strongest city. On the other hand, the Democrats lost the election by playing around with such groups.

Not the American Way That is not the American system. The American system provides for election of presidents every four years and congress every two—and abiding by the results of the election.

The election said this nation should have a two-party government at this critical time. I think it is right. This country was made up on a two-party basis, and it fell into the one party rut (like the one parties of communism and fascism) under a Democratic regime which perpetuated itself in office too long. The election said the people want our system.

In this result, both Truman and the Republicans have been assigned responsibilities. Truman cannot go running off like a spoiled child. Transition times call particularly for collaboration, for each side to perform its popularly assigned duties.

One party was not enough to represent us at the peace conferences. Now we have two all around. I think you will see that the checks and balances of a two party system, which now has been started functioning by the electorate, will bring better results than we have had lately under one-party control.

The British Labor party went into a coalition with the war. We needed something of a coalition to win the peace. I think we are ahead of the world and not behind it.

Question of Stalin's Health

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 — The absence of Generalissimo Stalin from the celebration of the national revolutionary anniversary undoubtedly means exactly what has been expected. His son, who has now returned to duty as a Soviet official, has informed at least one foreign diplomat that his father was ill and had gone to his villa at Sochi on the Crimean Riviera, for rest and recuperation. This occurred rather more than three weeks ago. Clearly his failure to attend the ceremonies in Moscow must mean, in view of young Stalin's statement, that the rest cure has been prolonged. The obvious inference is that Stalin's condition has required careful treatment.

American and other Western policy-makers feel very mild concern over this news because of the high estimate placed upon Stalin's essential toughness. Nevertheless, it is still feared that if the comparatively enlightened Stalin were to lay down part or all of his great burden, the other members of the Politburo might abruptly reverse the favorable tendency which is now dimly discerned in Soviet policy.

It is tremendously important to realize that changes in Soviet policy are taking place precisely because they may later make possible the broad international settlement for which Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' critics called so insistently. Three stages of Soviet policy are discerned to date.

First Stage

In the first stage, after the German and Japanese surrenders, the Kremlin assumed that they had only to ask, and it would be given unto them. The prestige of the Soviet Union's heroic struggle; the power of the Soviet armies; the leadership of the Communist parties in the European resistance movements; and the wartime willingness of the Western leaders to appease the Soviets, were all factors contributing to this frame of mind. Those who attended the first London conference agree that when it ended without last minute agreement on some such document as the Yalta communiqué, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was even more surprised than he was indignant. It took the Soviet leaders some months to realize that asking and getting—at least getting about 70 per cent of what was asked—had ceased to be synonymous.

In the second stage of Soviet policy, the Kremlin set out to get what it wanted by what may be called activist methods. This period was marked by such episodes as the Iranian adventure, and the most untrammeled Soviet efforts to propagandize and penetrate Germany. This period also terminated, because American and other opposition continued strong; because the anticipated rivalry among the Western powers failed to develop; and because the post-war Soviet Union was far weaker than had been hoped. This last is a significant, still-half concealed factor.

Situation Serious

In illustration of the gravity of the Soviet economic situation, it is only necessary to remark that the Soviet cost of living has been increased by about 300 per cent, with slight compensating wage raises. This puts an appalling strain on the whole structure of the state. Soviet life is now so honeycombed with petty rackets that one embassy in Moscow, which could not get its winter vegetables through the foreign office, was able to purchase no less than ten tons through a black marketeer. The vegetables came, moreover, from a collective farm so near the capital that delivery was made in a day or so. Finally, the strain on the state has in turn led to the ruthless tightening of the screws represented by the current purge.

The best way to understand the nature of the purge is to imagine the state of affairs here if, within a few months, a huge percentage of farm managers; a high percentage of leading industrialists; every truly creative American artist or writer from Ernest Hemingway to Leonard Bernstein; and up to half the officials in several of the largest federal agencies and state governments, were all dismissed, jailed or exiled to farthest Alaska.

Meat Eaters

Director Charles Vidor told a film story at a Hollywood dinner. "A tramp," he said, "was hired for a small part in a comic film. 'At the first go off,' the director explained to him, 'a tiger will come into your room and get in bed with you.' 'Nix, boss,' said the tramp. 'I resign. I resign right here.' 'Rats,' laughed the director, 'this tiger won't hurt you. Why he was brought up on milk.' 'So was I brought up on milk,' said the tramp, 'but I eat meat now.'"

Daily Bible Thought

Wild men and wild women wreck their own lives and ruin their children as well; Thou shalt keep his statutes, that it may be well with thee, and with thy children after thee." Deut. 4:40.

A MODERN FABLE

THE EAGLE AND THE BEAR AGREED ALL THE ANIMALS SHOULD DISARM —

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1936. Commemorative services held at the courthouse under auspices of the American Legion, dedication of a doughboy statue by Captain William Hendricks Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and a parade in the evening marked Marion's observance of the eighteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

Miss Mildred Hollandhead and Howard A. Baker of Gallon were married in Central Christian church.

Miss Mary Katherine Alheit was elected president of the Ever Ready class of Emanuel Lutheran church at the home of Miss Zella Mae Willoughby on Cherry street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William K. Hamor of Summit street.

A wheel of cheese valued at $14, a blanket, flashlight, clock, woman's coin purse containing $29 and a bicycle were listed in the loot taken in a series of thefts from a Marion residence, a garage and several parked cars.

An invitation to hold the 1937 meeting of the Central district, Ohio Federation of Music Clubs in Marion was accepted at the closing session of the state organization at Columbus. Mrs. James C. Woods, president of the district, Mrs. Karl W. Schell, district secretary, Mrs. David W. Evans, Mrs. Glen Penry, president of the Marion Lecture-Recital club, Mrs. John Lacey, Mrs. Harold K. Mouser and Miss Lois Snodgrass attended.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Nov. 11, 1926. Mrs. George W. King, Mrs. India Hoover, Mrs. Hoover Brown and Mrs. Thomas Sutherland were hostesses to Captain William Hendricks' chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Etowah, the home of Mrs. King on Mt. Vernon avenue.

Mrs. Frank Zuck entertained a company of friends at a luncheon in her home on Windsor street. Miss Rowena Bretz and Eugene Maize were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bretz, eight miles north of Marion, by Rev. J. W. Dodds, pastor of the M. E. church at Bucyrus.

Improvement in Immigrants

System of Control Brings Better Type of Aliens.

BY BRACK CURRY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—Controlled immigration is bringing better potential citizens to America. The penniless alien in colorful native garb who flooded the nation's gateways in the old days is seldom seen, says the U. S. Immigration Service.

Today's typical immigrant, it says, "is more likely to have cleaner habits, to be better educated and better supplied with money."

And he sails or flies to America in style compared with pre-World War I days. The word "steerage" is now only a term.

The service says this in the latest issue of its publication "Monthly Review."

"In the olden days steerage quarters, between decks, ran the entire length and width of the ship with double-decker bunks and no partitions. Women and small children slept on one side of the vessel, men on the other side.

"Cattle, pigs, goats and chickens were carried on deck. This was the only way to obtain fresh meat, milk and poultry since there was no refrigeration. Passage cost from 10 upwards."

Action in 1917

Congress moved in 1917 to prevent the immigration of undesirable aliens. It passed the Basic Immigration Act, which among other things listed the excludable classes set out in previous legislation and added some others.

One result was that in a typical year of unrestricted immigration—July 1, 1913 to June 30, 1914—1,069 aliens were deported after hearings as mentally defective, 1,547 as having dangerous or contagious diseases, and 19,616 as having a disease or disability which might affect their ability to support themselves.

In a typical year after controlled immigration began only 2,115 were held for immigration hearings.

Numerical restrictions and health and literacy requirements for immigrants have not ended the Immigration Service's troubles.

The trouble-shooters are the inspectors of the Boarding Division. They've also been called "the diplomatic corps" of the service.

These inspectors must examine every alien and citizen passenger arriving in this country from overseas.

Their task is complex—to nab impersonators and forgers of passports while remembering that they're the first contacts for potential Americans.

Stowaways are one headache for the inspectors. The 1917 act added stowaways as a class of excludable aliens. Since July 1, 1945, the Immigration Service has arrested 1,075 alien stowaways ranging from six to 66 years old.

The 10 Largest Islands

THE globe's surface is 71 per cent oceans and 29 per cent land, notes National Geographic Society. All the islands in the world (there are 7,063 in the Philippines group alone) have less area than the United States plus Alaska.

The world's 10 largest islands and their areas in square miles are: Greenland, 827,300; New Guinea, 316,861; Borneo, 290,012; Madagascar, 228,642; Baffin, 197,754; Sumatra, 167,620; Honshu, 89,009; Great Britain, 84,186; Victoria, 80,340; Ellesmere, 77,392.

These 10 cover two-thirds of the world's island area, one-eighth of the total surface of the globe. They add up to about as much land surface as the 27 states of the Union west of the Ohio-Mississippi river system.

Most important of the 10 are Great Britain and Honshu, renowned seats of empire. Each luckily populated, is about the size of Minnesota.

Three of the 10—Borneo, New Guinea, and Sumatra—are steamship equatorial islands of the East Indian archipelago, lying north and northwest of Australia between the Pacific and Indian Oceans. Sumatra, a Netherlands possession, compares in size with California. Borneo and New Guinea, shared between the Dutch and Netherlands and Great Britain, are each larger than Texas.

Greenland, largest of the 10, is Denmark's only colony. Almost entirely covered with thick ice, Greenland counts only a few thousand people.

Grouped together west of the north magnetic pole are Baffin, Victoria, and Ellesmere, all Canadian, all frigid, barren and barren except for limited tundra and plains areas that support caribou and musk-ox.

Madagascar, nearly as large as Texas, has been a French colony for 52 years.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Unfinished Letters for Special Delivery

TO The Fish Industry.

Gents:—

I have been puzzled for a long time by the question. Are all haddock in the hands of the fishermen? Can't we get the swordfish off the feeding lots into the markets? Is some little group of selfish men making it tough for oysters, shad, Boston blues and halibut to get through? Did the war do something to flounders, sea bass, round clams, troutfish, eels and red snapper?

It has been fairly easy to understand why meat has been so high. I knew they had to breed cattle, raise them from little calves, fatten them up and go through quite a routine before they came through to the corner grocer. But I didn't know it took years to bring up a herring.

It will be news to me if you tell me that a salmon has to be carefully developed from the cradle to the pantry, that fattening a quart of clams is quite an undertaking and that many a man in the fish industry has had his "near broken" or the many things that can happen to an alien, a snapper-bluefish or a cod between the time it is born and the day it is last ready for the market.

Still, it must be something like that. No fish could cost as much as it does today with having plenty of troubles. Has some blight "hake"? Was the 1945 sardine crop hit by "events"? Did the corn borer get into the sardine base? Was there a big shortage of feed for haddock? Did the cost of raising a flatfish go 30 per cent since the war? Did those atom bomb tests do something to bullheads? Can't we get away with perch at old-time prices until peace treaty is signed?

I remember when people who couldn't afford meat bought fish. I can go away back to the time when, if it was tough making both ends meet, a visit to the fish market was always a solution. There used to be an old saying in there were as many fish in the sea as there were caught. The poor could always have codfish. What's happened?

Fish markets don't even smell like fish markets any more. They smell like financing bureaus. The proprietor, who used to be around in a blue apron, now that he's recovered from an old wreck and a straw hat with the top cut out, now dresses like a banker. He wants letters of introduction before he will quote prices on a blockfish.

I am in a quandary. Tell me, do fishermen get fish by going fishing or do they have to send out prospectors stake claims, &c? I just want to know. &c, &c, &c.

Strange things are happening in Yale football. The bowl this year has, among other innovations, a loudspeaker through which the customers are kept informed of what is going on. Down through the years 80 per cent of the football fans everywhere have been supposed to follow the game by the guessing, gapping and growing system. Yale was close to tops among the conservatives. For now they're held out against numbering the players. But now there is a sea of alienated and progressiveness at New Haven and sell-outs are coming back at the Bowl after many years. Twice this season 66,000 fans have packed the arena at early games.

ELECTION THOUGHTS

One of the strangest things in most place on Election Day was the public apathy as it returns came in. It seems to have been a foregone conclusion that the skies were going to be gloomed and that the old lady who was going down them had been active in her youth.

Many a voter pulled down the Republican lever with a sad "I hate to do this to the Democrats, but it's time to look at the stop signs and stop crashing through all those yellow caution signals."

The Democrats had the singing commercials but the Republicans had the nuclear energy.

The worm will always turn, even if the fact he is on a voting list sometimes gives him arthritis in the rudder.

Dewey won so easily there are now charges he was stimulated in the paddock. (Released by The Associated Newspapers.)

"It's a strange thing when you stop to stop," mused T. Manville Twill the lonesome stopping to think, "that politicians should be anything less than grateful for solving one of the hardest problems of all time. I suppose the trouble is that they do not realize they have solved anything. They cannot think ahead to what might happen day after tomorrow."

All right, all right, if Old Whiskers intended to drop pearls before swine, how about pearls? What is over this hardest problem? All times that politicians have solved but are too stupid to know they have solved it? And what might happen day after tomorrow?

T. Manville grinned, and it was not a pretty thing to see. "I am not amused," he announced. "At the ignorance which surrounds me. But in recognition of the fish and the flopshod privileges, I will toss off a few pearls from time to time. What might happen day after tomorrow?"

Conflict Seen Over Germany's Industrial Fate

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Affairs Analyst

Ant'ee spoke Saturday of the necessity and difficulty of maintaining a level of industrial production in Germany which would permit Germany to remain a neutral power in the economy of Europe and again becoming an arm of something both the political and the experts have been working on for many months and years in the jockeying among the powers for political position.

Germany represents the greatest problem in postwar Europe. Germany is a country with great technical and scientific skills, capable of a vast contribution to that economic sufficiency of the world which is now recognized as a prime requirement for peace. One of the great shames of history is that these capabilities cannot be permitted free way without the fear that they will be diverted to the use of a Frankenstein.

U. S. Seeks Cartel Breakup
The United States believes it can do much to put Germany in a controllable basis through breaking up her cartel system but is not receiving wholehearted cooperation from the British and very little or none at all from France and Russia. For instance, the British determination to handle the distribution of coal through two large syndicates owned or controlled by the mining interests, making it difficult for dealers in the American zone to get supplies without forming a central purchasing organization, is one of the headaches encountered in working out the Anglo-American zonal economic unification.

With an increasing trend toward Communism in France indicated by the election returns, it hardly seems that the chance for unity among the French and Anglo-American zones has been enhanced. France and Russia have both been integrating their occupation zones with their own home economies.

Opposes Unification
France particularly has opposed unification of Germany and this

Defeated Huffman May Receive Federal Post
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—James W. Huffman, defeated for reelection to the senate from Ohio by former Governor John W. Bricker, is reported to be in line for appointment to a federal post. Even before last Tuesday's election, there were reports that Huffman would be offered an appointive post if he lost to Bricker. Huffman was appointed to the senate in October 1935 to finish the term of Harold H. Burton, who became a member of the supreme court.

As senator, Huffman called frequently on President Truman, and had the Chief Executive's support in his campaign for reelection.

Huffman was not available here for comment about his plans, and friends said it was unlikely that he would make any immediate announcement.

YOUR HEALTH
By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Toxic Goitre

Most people think of toxic goitre as a condition in which the thyroid gland overworks to produce far too much of its stimulating secretion. That is untrue, but doctors today are coming to believe that the over-activity of the thyroid gland is only the most outstanding part of a much more widespread disturbance, in which many other parts of the body are involved.

Doctor James H. Means of Boston, for instance, believes that other glands of internal secretion—the body's chemical plants for making the powerful substances needed in the body's regulation—may also be affected.

In some cases of toxic goitre, the symptoms affecting the eyes overshadowing all others and are even more troublesome and more marked than are nervousness, fatigue, loss of weight, or rapid beating of the heart. In such patients there may be bulging of the eyeballs, limitation of movement of the eyes, especially upward, double vision and retraction or drawing away of the lids from the eyeball. The eyelids may be swollen and the lining membrane over the eye reddened and inflamed.

The eye condition may be so severe that it results in inflammation of the cornea or front part of the eyeball, scarring of the eye, and inflammation of the entire eye. Dr. Means thinks that some trouble with the pituitary gland located at the base of the brain may be, in large measure, responsible for the bulging of the eyes.

He believes, also, that in those instances in which the eye symptoms are severe, removal of the thyroid gland is inadvisable. He suggests treatment with thyroid extract on the theory that this will suppress the excessive action of the thyroid gland. He has found that with this treatment improvement occurs, although it is brought about slowly.

In those cases in which the eye symptoms are severe and other symptoms such as nervousness are also present, treatment of the condition with X-ray may be advisable. Recently, these patients have been treated with what is known as radioactive iodine. This is iodine that has been subjected

Cleveland Man Held In Year-Old Murder

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11.—A 31-year-old Cleveland man who surrendered himself at police headquarters because he "got religion" was held today in connection with a year-old holdup of the Cleveland transit system's Woodhill car barns in which James H. Peak, 44, was slain.

Police said the man held walked into Central police station and told an official: "I want to see a detective. I have something to say about the Peak murder."

Detectives Samuel Mears and William Kauter, who began questioning the man, quoted him as saying his conscience had bothered him but that he was no killer. The slaying preyed on his mind "because I believed in God and got religion," the officers said.

Between 1910 and 1940, industrial production in the United States almost doubled.

There are some things which can be done to help protect the eyes. Greasing of the eyes at bedtime with plain petrolatum, keeping the lids shut with tape or bandages, and the use of smoked glasses may be helpful. Sleeping with the head raised on several pillows helps to reduce the swelling and the feeling of pressure in the eyes.

When proper treatment of the thyroid conditions is carried out, slow improvement may be brought about or at least the disorder may be kept from progressing. However, the patient must be under constant care by the physician so that, if alarming symptoms develop, they may be promptly taken care of.

RAINBOW VETS HOLD DINNER AT HARDING

Dyer J. Bird Chapter Entertains Wives, Guests.

Dyer J. Bird chapter, Rainbow Division of Ohio, held a banquet Saturday evening at Hotel Harding with the wives of the members as guests. Fred Miller served as toastmaster for the evening.

Guest speaker was the Hon. J. J. Dyer, a colonel in the Army reserve. He was recently discharged from the regular army with the rank of a member of the local chapter, he has had 24 years of service, five and one-half years of which were during World War II. He was in charge of the local company here in 1941. He talked on his experiences in the Army and of his service in Japan.

Carl Thimmes of Columbus, state secretary, also gave a short talk. Entertainment was provided by Miss Virginia Grover and Mrs. Jayne Melby Coffey, and a group of boys and girls. Those participating were Shirley Weeks, Nancy Hammond, Regina Hoas, Ruth Wilson, Carolyn Fabian and Patty Johnson.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Harzog, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Pappenfuss, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Weaver and George Crottinger, all of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Giesper, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shurtz, all of Akron, and Lucille Spain of North Lewisburg.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the banquet was composed of David Nickle, Ray Jacobs, and A. D. Boyd.

FACES MURDER CHARGE

By The Associated Press

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 11.—Police Chief Ronald G. Hurvaid said a first degree murder charge would be filed today against James W. Fannin, 34-year-old Sandusky laborer, in the slaying of Esquie Cantu, 26, a Mexican worker in the sugar beet fields at Fremont. Cantu died in a hospital here of head wounds received late yesterday in a shooting and cutting fray at the rear of a downtown Sandusky tavern, Police Capt. Irvin J. Grathwol reported.

Silver Bowl Called For After "Delay"

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Said the 24-year-old woman, smiling sweetly at jewelry salesman Frank McAuliffe. "I'd like to pick up that silver bowl." "I bet," here to be cleaned. My sister said she'd be angry with me if I didn't get it pretty soon."

Said McAuliffe: "When did you leave it? Several weeks ago?"

"No—in 1902."

McAuliffe found it, too—in the basement.

HARRIMAN CALLS FOR RESTRAINT IN PRICES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman today called upon American business to use "real restraint in price policies."

Harriman told the 33rd National Foreign Trade convention that with the removal of price controls, businessmen should "shape their policies to assist in preventing as far as practicable further inflationary price increases."

Each corporation, he added, should "restrict its purchases of those commodities and products in short supply as much as possible and postpone new construction to the fullest degree possible in order to assist in leaving material for home construction for our veterans and others without adequate housing."

Harriman also stressed "the necessity of maintaining import controls for the time being at least, in order that with our great ability to buy we do not inflate world prices unduly and prevent other nations from attaining their fair share."

Burglary Yields Candy and Pennies

By The Associated Press

Five boxes of candy and approximately one dollar's worth of pennies were taken from the Mar-O-De Inn on the Delaware pike in a break-in there sometime after 2:30 a. m. today, Sheriff LeRoy Ratterer reported.

The building was entered by prying up a south window, the sheriff said, and the pennies were taken from the cash drawer. Employees said they did not leave the building until about 2:30 a. m. and they believed the break-in occurred sometime after that.

1 HURT, 7 ARRESTED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Waldo Resident in Hospital; Speeders in Court.

Pre-Armistice day traffic, heavy on all routes in the Marion area over the weekend, resulted in one accident which sent a Waldo man to Marion City hospital with a fractured left leg and brought seven arrests for traffic violations, the state highway patrol reported.

Russ C. Castel, 45, of Waldo, suffered a left leg fracture Saturday at 6:35 p. m. when he was struck by an automobile as he was walking across route 23 in Waldo. He was taken to Marion City hospital following the accident.

State highway patrolmen said Castel was walking west across the highway when he was struck by an automobile driven by Orr Samuel Zimmerman of Columbus, traveling south. Zimmerman told patrolmen he did not see Castel until it was too late to stop.

Speeders were the worst traffic offenders, the highway patrol said. One youth, was traveling 85 miles an hour, patrolmen said. Two others, both charged with speeding, were driving 70 and 75 miles an hour.

Alfred Masters, 23, of Detroit, Mich., was arrested on route 23 south of Marion Sunday afternoon on charges of speeding 70 miles an hour. He posted bond to appear in municipal court Saturday morning.

A second youth, George Lewis London, 20, of route 1 Radnor, was arrested on route 23 north of Delaware Saturday at 9 p. m. on charge of driving 75 miles an hour. He is scheduled to appear in the mayor's court in Delaware Tuesday afternoon.

Charges of reckless operation were filed against William Gale Westbrook, 19, of Mt. Gilead after he was arrested on route 42 south of Mt. Gilead at 1:15 a. m. Sunday. Patrolmen said Westbrook was driving 85 miles an hour. He was fined $50 and costs by the mayor at Mt. Gilead.

Clarence T. Jones, 32, of Cleveland, was fined $15 and costs by the Mt. Gilead mayor after he was arrested by the patrol on route 42 near Mt. Gilead Saturday at 11 p. m. on a speeding charge.

Fred William Neumann of Willard, O., 34, arrested Saturday at 7:45 p. m. on route 42 on a stop sign violation charge, was fined $5 and costs in the Mt. Gilead mayor's court.

Patrolmen failed to observe the stop sign at the intersection of routes 42 and 61.

Also arrested at the route 42 and 61 intersection Saturday at 8:30 p. m. on a charge of failure to observe the stop sign was Robert Bruce Myers, 20, of Gallion. He paid a fine of $5 and costs in the Mt. Gilead mayor's court.

Harold Edward West, 39, of Mt. Gilead, was fined $5 and costs by the Mt. Gilead mayor Saturday at 10:30 p. m. on a charge of having no operator's license. He was arrested by the state patrol on route 95 near Mt. Gilead.

ter taps, he proceeded to the amphitheater.

In the state capitals and the capitals of Puerto Rico and Hawaii, the adjutants general mustered representatives of some 3,000 National Guard units to receive from the war department the colors, standards and guidons carried in World War II.

At Austin, Tex., there were international honors for the Texas National Guard's 36th Infantry Division, which fought through Italy, France and Germany. The French government awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm decoration, to be attached to the division's colors, in appreciation of the hard fought advance by the 36th late in 1944 which helped free Alsace from the Nazis.

Today was the second peacetime observance of the end of World War I since 1941.

But while much of the emphasis was on preparedness for the future, the Army took a dim view of its chances of winning the new congress over to the idea of a compulsory military training program.

War department legislative advisers told reporters privately they not only doubt that the new session will agree to peacetime conscription but that the sentiment may be so strong as to dissuade the Army from even asking an extension of the wartime draft act. That law is due to expire in March.

CHINESE PARLEY DELAYED

By The Associated Press

NANKING, Nov. 11.—Opening of the national assembly, called by Chiang Kai-shek for tomorrow to establish an all-party government for China, has been postponed "two or three days," minister of information Peng Hsueh-Pei told newsmen today. This was announced as Communist tempers flared anew over allegations that government troops in violation of the new cease-fire order were menacing the Red capital of Yenan, and as third-party representatives urged postponement of the session until the end of the month in the hope of reaching an agreement with the Communists beforehand.

CONGRESSMAN AT 27. The youngest member ever to serve in the U. S. House of Representatives will be 27-year-old Marjorie Corbin, a Philadelphia Republican, who defeated William J. Green Jr. in the fifth Pennsylvania district.

the possible spearhead of a powerful anti-Communist bloc.

Interior ministry figures for 344 deputies elected from continental France and Corsica gave the Communists 166 seats, the MRP 157, the Socialists 90, the Leftist Rally (mainly radical Socialists) 51, the Rightists (Republican Party of Liberty and Gaullist Union) 50 and independents 30.

Could Continue

Thus the Communists and Socialists together, provided they could get together, would command 256 votes, while the MRP theoretically could amass 258 with the Radical Socialists and Rightists, not taking into account the predominantly rightist character of the 30 independents.

In popular votes, incomplete returns gave the Communists 4,966,786, MRP 4,312,281, Socialists 3,132,293, Leftist Rally 1,810,068, and minor parties 2,247,413. The total vote cast was expected to approach 20,000,000.

Seen No Majority

Socialist Andrew Philip, former finance minister, expressed belief that no one or two parties could get a majority "with the exception of a Communist-MRP coalition, which seems difficult to realize." He predicted "a new tripartism that could be either a Communist-Socialist-MRP coalition or a reconstitution of the former Popular Front with Communists, Socialists and the Leftist Rally."

Individual candidates elected included President-Foreign Minister Bidault, Communist leaders Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos, former interim president Felix Gouin, Socialist prewar Herriot and Edouard Daladier, premiers Paul Reynaud, Edouard and Rene Capitant, head of the Gaullist Union and education minister under the provisional presidency of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

UN Diplomats Speculate On French-Soviet Tieup

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—United Nations diplomats scanned reports of Communist election gains in France today for indications that the new French government might develop a more pro-Russian foreign policy than the old regime.

Should this occur, authorities speculated that it could radically alter the power balance in the foreign ministers and United Nations meetings here.

However, the Sunday questions raised by the ballot were slated to go without exact answers until all returns were in and the new government formed.

France has not always sided with the United States and Britain against Russia on critical issues—and sometimes has played the role of compromiser—but in the main French policy has lined up with the west more than with Russia.

LEGION TAKES LEASE ON NEW QUARTERS

Remodeling Work To Begin This Week.

Rooms on the second, third and fourth floors of what is known as the Marion National Bank building on East Center street have been leased by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion and will be used as clubrooms. It was announced today. The work of making needed repairs and changes will get under way this week, Earl L. West, post commander, said today.

The second floor will be used as a lounge and will be equipped with a service bar for light lunches and soft drinks. It is planned, and the rooms on the third floor will be made available for such activities as the drum and bugle corps and practice for the proposed drill team which the post hopes to organize from the 650 members. The room on the top floor will be used for recreational purposes.

Activities under way include the organization of three bowling teams, basketball team and a rifle team, and plans are being made to sponsor a baseball team next year. Rifles for use by the rifle team have arrived. The new clubrooms will be used for recreation and socially and the post's business sessions and other activities will be at the Dugout, it is planned.

High School Battle Of Sexes Plays Hob With Pa's Nightshirt

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A sartorial battle of the sexes turned into a parade ground of scowls Saturday—and played hob with Father's dwindling supply of nightshirts.

The ruckus, which brought down the wrath of school authorities, began when a fraternity group vowed to observe a "Hate Women Week."

They wouldn't shave. They wouldn't date. They wouldn't even talk to girls.

And, if possible, they dressed more sloppily than ever, wearing their shirt tails out and their pants rolled up.

Promptly, the girls retaliated. Setting a new chic, they came to school sporting their male parents' flannel nightshirts in loud and unique colors that gave the old man away cold. Underneath, they wore their regular duds.

"You look," said Mrs. Opal H. Corkery, the principal, to several of the girls, "like so many unmade beds."

Furthermore, she said, if they didn't take the pajama tops off, she would send the girls to bed in the infirmary.

Next day the boys ganged up with the girls, both sexes showing up at school in nightgowns, nightshirts, pajamas and tail-out shirts.

Gracefully, Principal Corkery surrendered after the boys promised to wear neckties and their best suits to class Tuesday. Asked if the boys wore neckties much, Mrs. Corkery meditated gloomily.

"Once a year," she said, "when they get their picture taken for the yearbook."

VIC DORRIS ACTS AS DAD AT GAME CEREMONIES

Appears for Late J. V. Fazio, Father of Chuck Fazio.

Vic Dorris, former Harding High school football coach, sat in for the late Joseph V. Fazio at the Dad's day program held at the Ohio State-Pitt game in Columbus Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Fazio was the dad of Charles Fazio, ex-quarterback and understudy to Captain Warren Amaling on the Ohio State football squad.

Dorris, who coached the Harding teams of 1943 and 1944 has acted in the same capacity at the Dad's day programs for the past two years. Fazio played a tackle position on the Dorris-coached Prexie squads and was captain and an All-Ohio tackle in 1943.

The Dad's day program this year included a speech by Dr. Howard Bevis, university president, and the Ohio State band was active in the ceremonies. They came onto the field in the form of a cross and taps were played. In honor of the dads they spelled out Dads in script. After that the dad of dads was introduced and all of the graders' fathers were asked to stand and be recognized.

In his speech President Bevis honored servicemen and told what Ohio State and other Ohio colleges were doing to aid returning veterans.

Washington Clergy Split On Cake Made Like Atomic Burst

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The capital's clergy split today over whether a cake fashioned in the shape of an atomic explosion is a "loathsome obscenity."

Rev. A. Powell Davies expounded the affirmative from the pulpit of his fashionable Unitarian church.

Building part of his sermon yesterday around a newspaper society page picture depicting Vice Admiral and Mrs. W. H. P. Blandy about to cut the queer-shaped piece of party, with Rear Adm. F. J. Lowry looking on, Mr. Powell called the picture itself "utterly loathsome." Then, waving aloft the printed page, he told his congregation, "If I had the authority of a priest of the middle ages I would call down the wrath of God upon such an obscenity. I would damn to Hell these people of callous conscience, these traitors to humanity who could participate in such a monstrous betrayal of everything for which the broken-hearted of the world are waiting."

At least two other Washington ministers took the view that Mr. Davies, who mentioned no names in his sermon, was overly impressed by the picture.

Rev. J. Warren Hastings, pastor of the National Christian church, who also numbers many notables in its congregation, commented: "If we can only learn to go no further with the atomic bomb than to making the likeness of its explosion into a cake we shall be all right."

Similarly, in another interview, Rev. Peter Marshall, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church in downtown Washington, said he found nothing obscene about the picture and "I don't see anything loathsome about it at all."

Of the two men most interested in Mr. Davies' sermon, Blandy said he did not care to comment "offhand," and Lowry told newsmen he thought the pastor "probably just doesn't understand the situation."

The British-born Mr. Davies, whose sermon subject was entitled "Lost the living forget," said he did not blame the newspaper, the Washington Post, for printing the picture or the photographer for taking it.

DR. CHRISTIAN JENSEN, MT. GILEAD DENTIST, DIES

Short Illness Causes Death in Mansfield Hospital.

NAVY ROTC PROGRAM OPEN TO YOUTHS HERE

College Training and Reserve Commissions Available.

Marion is among 28 Ohio cities in which examinations will be given to high school students aspiring to free college education under the Navy's ROTC program. A. C. May, principal of Harding High school and the Navy's civilian representative here, said today.

The program is nationwide. Examinations will be given Jan. 12, application forms must be in by Dec. 17. The tests are designed to measure the candidate's aptitude for college work.

Successful candidates may select a college from 50 in the nation, including Ohio State University and Miami university in Ohio. The grant includes tuition, books, fees and $50 a month for four years. Students under the program must accept reserve commissions in the Navy.

Father of 5 Admits Strangling His Wife

By The Associated Press
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., Nov. 11.—State Police Capt. Earl J. Hathaway said today Eugene Nichols, 25, factory worker and father of five children, had admitted strangling his estranged wife, Lucille, also 25.

The mother, Mrs. Hathaway said, was a divorcee, was found dead in her bed Sunday morning by a daughter, Lucille, 9. The arrest of Nichols followed after neighbors had notified police.

Capt. Hathaway said Nichols admitted that he choked his wife with his hands in the bedroom of their home on the sparsely settled outskirts of the city.

"I was tired of the bickering and quarreling and the coming divorce," Hathaway said the young father related.

DALE CARNEGIE LECTURER TO SPEAK HERE TUESDAY

Dr. J. Walter Ruskin To Talk at Columbian Hall.

A discussion of methods to be used in effective speaking, human relations and personality development will be given Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Columbian hall, Pearl and Columbia streets, by Dr. J. Walter Ruskin, executive field secretary of the Dale Carnegie Institute of New York and Cleveland.

Dr. Ruskin is trying to locate several Marion persons who took the Dale Carnegie course in the early part of 1940. He has asked that those persons communicate with him at Hotel Harding or attend the lecture Tuesday night.

The Dale Carnegie training is open to both men and women over 18 years of age. It has been approved by the veterans' administration for all ex-servicemen not employed in on-the-job training, but is not held exclusively for veterans of World War II. The meeting is open to the public.
